Tour kicks off August 9, ReverbNation artists to join

NEW YORK, NY – August 2, 2007 – ReverbNation, a leading online music marketing company, announced today that REHAB will headline the upcoming ReverbNation music tour. In addition, ReverbNation is giving five artists a chance to earn a slot on the five different legs of the tour. Selected bands will join the tour beginning in September, and the tour will run through November 2007. ReverbNation has emerged as one of the premier independent music resources on the web and REHAB is one of the leading independent artists in the music industry today. By joining forces they are spreading the independent spirit to all true music fans across the nation.

"We're excited about this tour. REHAB is a well known and well respected band that will draw thousands of fans. By allowing the tour to be broken into five legs, REHAB is allowing the selected bands to participate on a national stage without the time constraints of a long tour. There are plenty of worthy artists out there that never get the chance to shine and this is another playing opportunity for them to do just that." said Lou Plaia, V.P Artist Development, ReverbNation.com.

Details on artist submissions are available at www.reverbnation.com. The submission period varies for each leg of tour depending on its start date. Specific tour dates and locations will be announced on the ReverbNation website as they become available.

ABOUT REHAB

Formed in the late '90s, pioneering mash-ups of scorching rock and searing rap, Rehab released its debut album, Southern Discomfort in 2000, filled with an array of guest stars including Cee-Lo, Goodie Mob and Cody Chestnutt. The album spun off the Top 15 modern rock hit "It Don't Matter" and sold over 200,000 albums. This success enabled the band to kick off a two year national tour supporting Linkin Park, Kottonmouth Kings and the Vans Warped Tour. Rehab left Epic Records in 2002, reformed in 2004 and debuted their independent album Graffiti the World on Atlanta based hip-hop label Attica Sound in June 2005. The album has sold over 50,000 making this one of the more successful independent projects in a failing music environment. Rehab has been touring the nation for the past two years selling out shows and spreading their music and independent spirit to all true music fans.
